

DROWSY MAGGIE

nú trad

from Ratingen, Germany

"The foursome from Ratingen is by now well known in the West of Germany. These four young guys have a very creative and unique approach. A portion of the traditional music of Ireland and Scotland is among the mixture. And then there are influences of Bellowhead, a little Folk rock and a lot more. [...] Let yourself be inspired by this band!"

Album review of Drowsy Maggie, "Nú Trad" (by Sabrina Palm, Irland Journal 2+3 2017)

Growing up in the midst of hardrock bands makes you take to traditional music differently! Flashy sounds, big beats and original arrangements of traditional material... in short: Nú Trad!

It is in this sense that Sebastian Zimmermann (vocals, fiddle), Alex Otto (accordion), Thomas Gurke (guitar) and Christoph Zimmermann (percussion) approach the music from global Celtic regions such as the Balkans, Brittany, Ireland or Galicia in live vivid sets and modern arrangements, using metal riffs and house beats, creating a unique blend of folk music to make the crowd dance!
